Girl Scouts of Southwest Texas & The Tobin Endowment are proud to bring to you the...
The Tobin Endowment the Arts Initiative

The arts inspires girls of all ages to explore visual expression and ideas in music, theatre and dance. The Tobin Endowment Arts Initiative incorporates education in visual and performing arts.

Through arts programs, girls focus on self-expression and discovery. The arts are vital to youth development and provide limitless possibilities for growth and exploration. Research shows that arts can reach students where other academic subjects cannot. With arts-integrated learning, students gain a greater depth of understanding of academic topics.

Girl Scouts who complete The Tobin Endowment Arts Initiative develop their artistic skills and learn about the performing arts through pathways which include painting, sculpture, jazz, blues, rap, classical music and dance.
Steps to Earn the The Tobin Endowment the Arts Patch

Girl Scouts is the premier girl leadership development program—girls have fun with a purpose! All activities are girl-led and girls should decide what activities to complete when earning a Business Patch Initiative (BPI) patch. In the spirit of Girl Scouting, girls may choose to participate in activities that are not listed in the booklets and/or supplements. If girls complete the minimum required number of activities based on the theme of the BPI, they have earned the BPI patch. For more information, contact Larissa Deremiah at lderemiah@girlscouts-swtx.org.

Step One:

1. Read through the Activities
2. Think about what you would like to do
3. Choose 3 out of the 4 Units
4. Complete 2 Activities from each unit chosen
   NOTE: Girls will complete a total of 6 activities

Step Two:

1. Complete the Business Patch Initiative (BPI) Evaluation
2. For more information, contact:

The Girl Scout Leadership Experience

Girls at every level of Girl Scouting participate in the “leadership experience.” A leadership experience is an exciting way of working with girls in a series of themed activities focused on building leadership skills. By enlisting the three keys to leadership (Discover, Connect, and Take Action) girls learn that they can take the lead to make a difference in their community and the world. The three keys are at the heart of the Girl Scout philosophy of leadership:

Discover
Girls understand themselves and their values and use their knowledge and skills to explore the world.

Connect
Girls care about, inspire, and team with others locally and globally.

Take Action
Girls act to make the world a better place.

It’s not just “what” girls do, but “how.” When girls are engaged that creates a high-quality Girl Scout leadership experience. All Girl Scout experiences are built on three processes (Girl-Led, Cooperative Learning, and Learning by Doing) that make Girl Scouting different from school and other extra-curricular activities. When used together, these processes ensure the quality and promote the fun and friendship so integral to Girl Scouting.

Girl-Led
Girls play an active role in the planning and implementation of activities while adults provide age-appropriate facilitation, ensuring that planning, organization, set-up, and evaluation of all activities are done jointly with the girls.

Cooperative Learning
All members of a group work together towards a common goal that can only be accomplished with the help of others.

Learn by Doing
A “hands-on” learning process that engages girls in cycles of action and reflection resulting in deeper understanding of concepts and mastery of practical skills.

When Discover, Connect, and Take Action activities are girl-led and involve learning by doing and cooperative learning, girls achieve the desired and expected leadership outcomes ultimately resulting in Girl Scouting achieving its mission: Building girls of courage, confidence and character, who make the world a better place.

College Bound
College Bound: Undergraduate Information

Materials: Number of materials is contingent on the desires of the girls and the number of girls participating.
- Internet
- Library
- Parent/Guardian Permission

Directions:
1. Research at least three different colleges or universities that specializes in art, music, dance and drama.
2. Obtain admissions information from three or more schools and ask the admission counselor at the schools you chose about available campus tours.
3. Compare the three schools you chose. Pay attention to tuitions and fees, financial aid, housing, campus size and population and demographics.
4. Share the information you have gathered with your family.
5. Share the information with your guidance counselor and inquire about further actions.

Note: Distinguish yourself in the college admissions process. The Girl Scout Gold Award tells college recruiters that you are a leader who is organized, determined and dedicated to improving your community. Gold Award Girl Scouts rate their general success in life significantly higher and report higher success in reaching their goals within many areas.

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should speak with their parents/guardians and guidance counselor first in order to discuss the options available to them, locally and nationally. Based on their advice, girls may want to focus on only two schools. Girls may call the admissions office and ask for information to be mailed to them. Parents/guardians should be made aware of all interactions the girls have with higher education institutions.

For girls that like more of a challenge, girls may wish to use the website collegecost.ed.gov to compare prospective colleges and universities with the information they have already gathered. With parent/guardian consent, girls may wish to schedule a campus tour with the admissions office. Girls should practice filling out the admissions paperwork for the college or university they have chosen.
College Bound: Degree Planning

Materials: Number of materials is contingent on the desires of the girls and the number of girls participating.

Directions:
1. Research at least three different undergraduate degree programs at the college or university of your choice.
2. Obtain a copy of each of the three-degree plans.
3. Compare the three-degree plans. Pay attention to course descriptions, prerequisites, and certifications.
4. Ask the school’s counseling office about college credits such as AP/IB credits, transferrable credits, CLEP credits and any other questions you have.
5. Share the information you have gathered with your family.
6. Share the information with your guidance counselor and inquire about further actions.

Note: The Girl Scout Gold Award represents the highest achievement in Girl Scouting. Open only to girls in high school, this prestigious award challenges you to change the world or at least your corner of it. Gold Award Girl Scouts are eligible for college scholarships.

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should speak with their parents/guardians and guidance counselor first in order to discuss their current academic standing and available college credits. Based on their advice, girls may want to focus on two-degree plans. Girls may call the campus counselor to discuss degree plans available to them. Parents/guardians should be made aware of all interactions the girls have with higher education institutions.

2. Pay special attention to the scholarships available for pursuing a degree in art, music, drama or dance.
3. Obtain at least two scholarship applications.
4. Share the information you have gathered with your family.
5. Share the information with your guidance counselor and inquire about further actions.

Note: The Girl Scout Gold Award will help you to earn college scholarships. The Girl Scout Gold Award represents the highest achievement in Girl Scouting. The Girl Scout Gold Award tells scholarship committee members that you are a leader who is organized, determined and dedicated to improving your community. Gold Award Girl Scouts rate their general success in life significantly higher and report higher success in reaching their goals within many areas.

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should speak with their parents/guardians and guidance counselor first in order to focus their research on their scholarship opportunities. With parents/guardians’ permission, girls may call the financial aid office and ask about the payment processes. Parents/guardians should be made aware of all interactions the girls have with higher education institutions.

For girls that like more of a challenge, girls may wish to learn about financial aid and use the Expected Family Contribution (EFC) calculator found on www.finaid.org/calculators to evaluate their financial need. Girls may also attend a FAFSA seminar or invite a guest speaker to talk about FAFSA. With parents/guardians’ permission, girls may go online to practice completing a FAFSA at fafsademo.test.ed.gov or complete the actual FAFSA at fafsa.ed.gov.

Leadership: Discover

Materials: Number of materials is contingent on the desires of the girls and the number of girls participating.
- Internet
- Library
- Parent/Guardian Permission

Directions:
1. Girls will create a community map, also known as a drawing or list that shows a community’s needs and resources.
2. Girls should focus on one location in your community that you are most familiar.
3. Girls should supplement your maps by using the internet, library and personal contacts.
4. The most important identifications on the maps should be:
   a. Community issues
   b. Community experts
   c. Supportive groups
   d. Community organizations
   e. Public places
5. After drafting the community map, girls should write down their interests and passions next to the identifications. Girls may list their personal friends, family and contacts.
6. Using the map, girls will be able to formulate a project idea!

Note: Project ideas should focus on promoting the Arts. Girls will develop a stronger sense of self, positive values and critical thinking skills. Girls will seek challenges in the world and gain practical life skills. This activity is completely girl-led!

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should complete this activity in a group with the assistance of parents/guardians or leaders. Brainstorming will be easier with people to bounce ideas off of and create constructive criticisms. Girls will be better prepared for planning with different points of view.

For girls that like more of a challenge, with the permission of parents/guardians, girls may volunteer at charitable organizations in their community in order to discover the organization’s mission and values. Girls should reflect on their experiences and decide which community service best fits their interests and passions.
Leadership: Connect

Materials: Number of materials is contingent on the desires of the girls and the number of girls participating.
- Internet
- Library
- Parent/Guardian Permission

Directions:
1. With parents/guardians’ permission, girls will reach out and communicate with the community experts, organizations and supportive groups from their community map.
2. Girls will present their project ideas and partner with an expert, organization or group for a take action project.
3. Girls will build a team of family, friends and colleagues to complete their take action project.
4. Girls will act as the leader of their take action project and provide professional and constructive instructions to all team members.

Note: Project plans should address art, dance, music and drama access issues. Girls feel connected to their community and develop healthy relationships to advance diversity in a multicultural world, promote cooperation and teambuilding and learn to resolve conflicts.

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should form a team of leaders in which each member is assigned specific tasks to complete for the take action project. Girls may be in charge of creating flyers, finding a venue for an event or obtaining in-kind donations. Girls will be in charge of their own assigned tasks and will build her team according to her goals.

For girls that like more of a challenge, with the permission of parents/guardians, girls may volunteer at charitable organizations in their community in order to market their take action project and recruit more team members. Girls should reflect on their experiences and decide which community service best fits their interests and passions.
Leadership: Take Action

Materials: Number of materials is contingent on the desires of the girls and the number of girls participating.
- Internet
- Library
- Transportation
- Parent/Guardian Permission

Directions:
1. With parents/guardians’ permission, girls will take action to finish their project!
2. Girls will be expected to take the lead to carry out the plan.
3. After completing the project, girls will take time to reflect on their accomplishments.
4. Girls may wish to ask for feedback from others.
5. Girls should evaluate their success.
6. Girls will share what they have done with others.

Note: Project plans should address art, dance, music and drama access issues. Girls will be able to identify community needs, be a resourceful problem solver, advocate for themselves and others. Girls will feel empowered to make a difference in the world while inspiring and educating others to act.

Accommodations:

For girls wanting a little more guidance, girls should act with their troop/group to complete for the take action project. Girls should be able to express why their project was important to the community and what issue they addressed. Girls should celebrate what they have accomplished and invite others to celebrate with them!

For girls that like more of a challenge, with the permission of parents/guardians, girls should create education materials to distribute within their community. The materials should create a measurable and sustainable impact on the community, inspiring others to act. Girls may think about turning their take action project into a Gold Star Award project!
YOU DID IT!

CONGRATULATIONS!
